The Charter Support Unit is here to help charter schools thrive.

National Scope, Local Expertise

Every public charter school across America operates in a slightly different environment. But the priorities are the same wherever you are: serve students well, operate responsibly and sustainably, deliver value for families and taxpayers. The Charter Support Unit’s no-cost resources and expertise can help your school achieve those essential goals and many more.

The CSU is here to help charter schools nationwide. With focused expertise in Florida, Texas, Upstate New York, Washington DC, Nevada and Idaho and Rural communities, we meet your needs from coast to coast.

Why the Support Unit Was Started

Are There Additional Areas You Would Like To See Added to Our Support Services?
There are so many ways the CSU can help your school.

One-on-One Consultations
Have an issue that would benefit from an outside perspective? CSU consultants are available to meet with school leaders and boards to work through your school's particular challenges or to help you advance your mission in new ways.

Trainings, Webinars, Online Courses
The Charter Support Unit offers ongoing and free trainings, webinars and online courses. We also maintain a robust library of resources and documents that any charter school can use.

Real People, Real Resources
We're here... because we've been there. The CSU's team of consultants is eager to share what we've learned from developing, leading and growing schools. Turn to us for tested strategies and tools collected from some of the country's most successful charter school leaders and advocates.

The Charter Support Unit is managed by Building Hope, a nonprofit serving charter schools nationwide, and is supported financially through government and philanthropic grants.
